—'A Sort Of Scandal' Charged—

General Says Wilson Lied

Guard Brass Blasts Secretary's 'Draft Dodging Business' Claim

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said Monday "a sort of scandal . . . a draft dodging business" developed in National Guard enlistments during the Korean War.

Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, president of the National Guard Assn. fired back: "a damn lie."

"Instead of evading the draft," Walsh said, "a man enlisting in the National Guard was making himself liable to service . . .

"Not one of these young men was a draft dodger." Wilson appeared before the House Armed Services Committee. Some of the committee members made plain they didn't like what he was saying and Wilson said the guard is not now "a draft dodging proposition."

The secretary, in a general discussion of the military reserves situation, upheld a new Pentagon decision to require six months of active duty training for young men who join the guard without prior military service.

Resisting Leaders of the National Guard Assn. are resisting the order, suggesting instead an 11-week duty that would fit into school vacations.

In his testimony, Wilson said: "It was a sort of scandal during the Korean War, a draft dodging business. A boy 17 to 18½ could enlist in the National Guard and not be drafted to fight in Korea."

Gen. Walsh told a reporter that during the Korean War, "We not only asked, but demanded" that the whole National Guard be mobilized.

"They did mobilize 37 per cent of the Army National Guard and 84.4 per cent of the Air Guard," he said. Of the guardsmen who were mobilized, he said, practically all got to Korea.

Authority In saying that a guard enlistee was making himself liable for service, rather than evading it, Walsh noted that the president had the authority to order the guardsmen into service.

The guard association's Executive Council, at a meeting here Sunday, said there is a "long-range conspiracy on the part of the Department of Defense and Army to downgrade the Army National Guard." It accused the military departments of slurring over the achievements of the guard.

Rep. Bennett (D-Fla.) of the Armed Services Committee called Wilson's statement about the guard regrettable, Bennett said.

"Not only have our National Guard units given us a great portion of our combat strength in the past, but there is presently no comparison between their combat readiness and that of the reserves."

Rep. Miller (D-Calif.), another committeeman, said: "As usual, Wilson didn't think the thing through. The men of the National Guard are just as much part of the Army as any other component."

In his general testimony, Wilson said he feels the national defense will be well cared for under its 38-billion-dollar military portion of President Eisenhower's 72-billion-dollar budget.

"We are still struggling in every way to save money," he also said, "but the situation is such we can't forecast any big reductions."

Wilson said in reply to questions that he anticipates no increase in military manpower as a result of

GEN. WALSH . . . disputes Wilson's word.

WILSON'S REMARK CALLED 'ASININE' BY GEN. WOOD

OMAHA (AP)—Maj. Gen. Warren Wood, commanding officer of the Iowa-Nebraska 34th Infantry Division of the National Guard, Monday night said he thought Defense Secretary Charles Wilson's statement that many youths joined the National Guard to escape the draft during the Korean War was "asinine" and "ridiculous."

"Many Guard divisions served in the Korean War. We had some units over there. And we were always willing to go at any time," said Gen. Wood, a World War Two combat veteran and publisher of a weekly newspaper at Gering, Neb., and president of the Star-Herald Printing Co. in Scottsbluff.

Gen. Wood said he did object to the Army's practice of pulling key men out of units to serve overseas, as he said was done in the Korean War. This, he said, disrupts the units. Wood added "we're willing to go, but we want to go together."

On the question of whether six months of active duty training by National Guard enlistees is necessary, Gen. Wood said "six months is more than the regular Army uses for basic training."

Nebraska Adjutant General Guy N. Henninger joined Gen. Wood in terming Wilson's comment "ridiculous" and Col. John M. Campbell, Lincoln, commander of the Nebraska Air National Guard which was called to active duty during the Korean War, said Wilson's statement "is not in accord with the facts."

Col. Campbell said he was "deluged" with applications for enlistment "the minute it was made known that we were going to be called to active duty."

The two Senate committees discussed the proposal behind closed doors Monday and it was reported they agreed on taking the review as far back as 1946, the first year of the Post World War II era.

The revised proposal calls on the State Department to provide "a chronological statement, together with classified (secret) and unclassified supporting documents, telegrams and the like, of all the events that have contributed significantly to the present situation in the Middle East."

It calls for the information "as soon as possible," but says the Senate will not delay action on the President's resolution "pending receipt of such information."

The Senate's Democratic leader, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, said whether an active investigation is to be conducted by the committees may depend to a large extent on the amount of information furnished by Dulles.

The Eisenhower resolution went to the House floor Monday with a recommendation that it be accepted or rejected "as is."

"Closed Rule" The House Rules Committee voted in favor of considering the resolution under a "closed rule," which prohibits amendments and limits debate to one day.

Debate is scheduled to start Tuesday. The full House will decide whether to follow the recommendation of the Rules Committee and the Foreign Affairs Committee, which contends the resolution is so technical and complicated that amendments might ruin its effectiveness.

In the simplest terms, the resolution would authorize the President to use American troops in the Middle East to counter any open Communist aggression there. It would also empower him to spend 200 million dollars in the area between now and June 30 to bolster the economy of Israel and the Arab nations.

—Senators Reach Mideast Agreement—

Eisenhower's Plan Stands Good Chance

10-Year Review Likely

Policy Study Is Expected Go Back To '46

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators appeared to have reached an agreement Monday on a proposal to review U. S. policy in the Middle East over the last 10 years.

Members of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees plan to vote on the question Tuesday. Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) and others said they thought the proposal would be approved.

This appeared to improve the prospects for passage by a good margin of President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution in the Senate. The President is asking for standby authority to use U. S. troops in the Middle East to necessary to repel Communist aggression. He also wants approval of an initial 200-million-dollar economic aid program for the area.

1952 First Proposed

As originally proposed by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), the policy review would have gone back to January, 1952, taking in the last year of the Truman administration and the first four years of the Eisenhower administration.

The two Senate committees discussed the proposal behind closed doors Monday and it was reported they agreed on taking the review as far back as 1946, the first year of the Post World War II era.

RESCUERS SEEK INJURED, DEAD

Illinois Blast, Fire Kill Seven Persons

... Nine Hurt In Store Explosion

ROSELLE, Ill. (AP)—An explosion apparently caused by leaking gas Monday killed seven persons, injured nine others and obliterated a two-story hardware store in downtown Roselle.

The blast, followed by a flash fire, showered this northern Illinois community with debris that, for a time, sealed off a highway running in front of the building.

Bricks and metal slashed through neighboring buildings and so littered Route 19 with rubble it was closed temporarily to traffic.

As far as authorities could determine, all those killed were in the store when the explosion occurred. All except three of the injured were in nearby stores or on the sidewalk in front of the building.

Police identified the dead as: John Herbert Gieseke, 45, operator of the store; two employees, Mrs. Evelyn Kramp, 41, and Donald Willie, 21; and four persons who apparently were customers—Lawrence McGrath, 25, a student at the University of Illinois whose home is in Roselle; Robert Finn, 12, who with a brother was on an errand for his mother; William Heinrich, 52, a member of the Chicago Fire Department, and his wife, Dorothy, 50.

The nine injured were taken to hospitals in nearby Elgin and Elmhurst. They included Robert Finn's 9-year-old brother, Michael, reported with two other persons in serious condition at Dupage Memorial Hospital, Elmhurst.

Roselle, a community of about 1,000 persons is between Elgin and Chicago.

Chief of Police Gerald Young said Public Service Co. employees were drilling post holes in the area Monday and that they drilled through a gas main in front of the hardware store.

Young said two repair men from the Northern Illinois Gas Co. were called. They went into the basement of the store and the blast followed.

Light Snow And Bitter Cold Offered

Snow flurries and cold, cold temperatures hit Nebraska's weather bill for Tuesday.

The snow flurries will end over the state, except in the northwest, by Tuesday night the Weather Bureau said.

Much colder Tuesday and Tuesday night was forecast with highs zero to five above in the north and 5 to 10 in the south and west.

Light snow appeared over most of the state Monday and Lincoln had some freezing drizzle. Highways continued in generally good condition, but some ice was reported in the David City and Fairmont areas.

Highways in southeast Kansas were said to be slick and hazardous and Oklahoma roads remained ice-covered. The Oklahoma Highway Patrol, advising only emergency travel, reported "extremely dangerous conditions."

Highs in the state Monday ranged from 21 to 25 with Lincoln recording a high of 23.

The report by Erickson showed 2,618 lots in plats approved in 1955 and 1956. Of this total, only 1,073 of the lots now have homes built upon them.

The $2,062,250 represents paying and water assessments against the total number of lots. Erickson said he did not know how much of the total assessment had already been paid off.

Last-Day Bills Swamp Hopper

140 Measures Introduced At Final Opportunity; Total Near Record

By ROY CAMPBELL

Star Staff Writer

The expected flood of bills to hit the Legislature Monday—20th and final day of introduction by senators—came off as expected with 140 tossed into the mill.

This brought the total to 580 for the session, only 15 short of the all-time record in 1953. But committee bills and those sponsored by the governor undoubtedly will take the total over the 600 figure for a new all-time mark during a Unicameral session.

Legislators brought in 88 bills at their regular morning session and then recessed until 4:30 following conclusion of committee hearings.

One-Half Hour To Read

From then, Clerk Srb read off the proposed measures, by title and introducers, for well over a half hour until the adjournment at 5:06 p.m. The total of 580 at the close of the 20th legislative day topped the 534 figure for bills introduced in the same period in 1955. Committee bills took the 1955 total to 559.

Legislation introduced Monday afternoon was headed in many directions, with two bills affecting beer drinkers in the state. One bill, LB 546 would prohibit the sale of beer or any alcoholic liquor on Sundays. The measure was put in by Sen. Willard Waldö of DeWitt.

Refund Required The one-half hour would prohibit the sale of beer in containers not having a refund value of at least two cents. This would eliminate beer in cans or throw-aways. Introducers were Waldo and Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth.

Another try at conserving metal and license plate changes every year was offered up in a bill by Sen. Ruhnke. It provides motor vehicle plates be issued only in even numbered years. Tags would be used in renewals.

Sen. Monroe Bixler of Harrison introduced a bill to insure elimination of the Schroeder Mail Route Act. This already is in a bill increasing the gasoline tax by one cent.

In the event the gas tax bill is killed, though, the Schroeder Act would still be repealed by Bixler's latest measure if it passed in LB 558.

Mrs. Warren Pleads Not Guilty To Murder

... Words 'Self Defense' Withdrawn

By VIRGIL FALLOON

Star Staff Writer

Mrs. Helen F. Warren tearfully answered a first-degree murder charge with "I plead not guilty in self defense" when arraigned Monday in Lancaster County Court in connection with the early Saturday morning death of her 32-year-old husband.

Her attorney, L. E. Schreyer of Lake Aodes, S. D., immediately laid a cautionary hand on her arm and later informed the court that the plea was solely "not guilty."

Judge Herbert Ronin said the record would show. He set preliminary hearing for Feb. 16 and ordered the defendant held without bond.

The 30-year-old woman is charged with the slaying of her husband, Maurice R. Warren "purposely and of her own deliberate and premeditated malice . . ."

Warren's underwear-clad body was found in a bedroom of the Warren home at 4626 Calvert following a call to police from Mrs. Warren who sobbed: "I think I've just killed my husband."

Authorities said Mrs. Warren has given a 24-page statement admitting she struck her six-foot three-inch, 230-pound husband with a nine-pound window sash while he slept.

'Protection' She said the couple had been arguing throughout the day and she had gotten the weight from the basement earlier in the evening for "protection."

Warren came home about 1:30 a.m. and had been drinking, she said. The argument continued as they retired and before Warren fell asleep.

After going to the kitchen, she returned to the bedroom, got the weight and struck her husband several times on the head, authorities quoted her statement.

The autopsy showed Warren died from an extensive and compound fracture of the skull and brain hemorrhage.

Schreyer, a former state's attorney in South Dakota, once represented Mrs. Warren in a divorce proceeding. She had obtained a divorce from Warren, but they later remarried and have a 20-month-old son.

Schreyer said that Attorney William Walker of Lincoln will assist as legal counsel.

Following her arraignment, Mrs. Warren was taken to county jail to await preliminary hearing.

In recommending no bond, County Attorney Elmer Scheele said that bail cannot be set in murder or treason cases except in extraordinary legal circumstances.

Hubcaps Taken Two hubcaps valued at $30 were stolen from a car owned by Willard Huettner of 1940 South. The car was parked at 22nd and Randolph at the time of the theft.

ing such improvements in new areas.

The Council is considering a policy whereby it would no longer finance such improvements and assess the cost against abutting property. Under such a plan, improvements such as paving and water would have to be financed by the developer.

The Council has expressed some fears that the assessments it makes may not be collected because the area fails to fully develop. If not collected, an assessment becomes a general obligation of the city.

On improvements, the city pays the contractors doing the work with warrants and then sells bonds annually to pay those warrants. The bonds are then retired from assessment receipts.

2 Billion For School Aid Urged

PROMPT ACTION IS ASKED
... By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower pressed Congress Monday for a $2,070,000,000 school aid program. He said it is needed to help states and cities meet a problem "unprecedented in its sheer magnitude."

Eisenhower sent a special message to Capitol Hill urging the legislators to "act quickly," because schools are bulging now with 2 1/4 million excess pupils and six million more are expected to enroll in the next five years.

Although he sought to head them off, new rows began to shape up immediately over the racial segregation issue, the way federal aid should be parceled out, and the question of federal intrusion into state affairs.

It May Be Bigger
And, if a bill gets through, it may be bigger in dollar dimensions than Eisenhower is seeking.

The Senate wasn't in session Monday, and House members heard the reading of the message with little show of interest and no applause. It proposed in the main:

Federal grants to the states for school construction at a rate of 325 million dollars a year for four years—a total of $1,300,000,000—with the states required to match the federal contributions after the first year.

Authority for the federal government to buy 750 million dollars in school construction bonds over the four years from school districts unable to obtain funds at reasonable interest.

Matching Plan
A 20 million dollar grant, to be matched by the states, for planning school construction programs.

Included in the four-year total is an item of up to 150 million dollars to help support bonds floated by state school-financing agencies.

As in his State of the Union message to Congress, Eisenhower said he hoped the school bill could be enacted on its own merits, "uncomplicated by provisions dealing with the complex problems of integration." But Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), a Negro, told reporters he will insist on banning federal aid to states or communities that segregate Negro and white pupils.

New President Meets Past Presidents

'Beneficial' Chamber Steps Industry, Aviation Projects

Albert Held, 1956 Chamber of Commerce president, told 140 stockholder-members at the annual meeting Monday that the Chamber took several important steps in 1956 toward building a stronger Lincoln.

Held singled out the creation of the Lincoln Industrial Development Corporation and participation in the Seven States Area aviation hearings as the two events promising the greatest economic benefits to the city.

He summarized work of the Chamber aviation committee to bring local air carrier service from other Nebraska cities and to grant permanent status to Braniff's Lincoln-Kansas City flights.

New Industry
Held cited the importance of the industrial development group, headed by Clark Jeary, to help in "bringing new business to Lincoln and developing those already existing here."

Over-all business and employment conditions in Lincoln have been good despite the drought, Held said. He pointed to the Lincoln Air Force Base as "the major economic factor brought into Lincoln during the past several years."

He said the Chamber would cooperate with the Base "in its effort to secure congressional appropriations for construction of a new hospital on the Air Base, which will involve nearly $3,000,000."

Centennial
Discussing plans for Lincoln's Centennial celebration scheduled for 1959, Held said actual work will get underway this year.

Plans had been started when the Chamber board of directors authorized the publicity committee to set up an independent Centennial Corporation.

Held also reviewed the work of the Chamber in the 1956 special election issues and stressed the continued need for an enlarged hospital system, city-county building and public library.

Summarizing the work of other Chamber groups and committees, Held estimated that some 500 members assisted in various activities actively and all 2,000 senior Chamber members contributed financially.

Poll Taken Of NU Students On Tuition

A poll is being taken among University of Nebraska students as they pay their second semester fees, to determine their attitude toward an increase in tuition fees at the University.

The poll also asks the students the degree to which they are self-supporting and whether or not they are taking advantage of University loan facilities.

Drawn up by members of the Student Council, Dr. A. C. Breckenridge, dean of faculties, and Jim Pittenger, administrative assistant to the Chancellor, the poll will be taken again on Tuesday and Wednesday. Answers are optional, and the questionnaires need not be signed.

The poll was administered to about one-third of the student-body Monday, and of that number, only about 60 answers had been tabulated.

These inconclusive figures show a majority of the students would continue at the University if there were a maximum $20 per semester increase in tuition fees. The questionnaire asked: "Could you continue here at NU if fees were increased $20? $30? $40? $50? $60?"

The poll was drawn up before the introduction of LB 410 in the current Legislative session by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff. His bill would call for doubling resident tuition fees, a $90 per semester increase, and also doubling non-resident tuition, a $180 per semester increase.

Johns President Of Hardware Club
Bob Johns, president of the Lincoln Hardware Club, and other new officers were installed at a dinner at the Lincoln Hotel Monday evening.

About 75 persons, including members and their wives, attended. Johns, who was vice president, succeeds Matt Kipper as president. Jack J. Sittner is new vice president and William J. Anderson succeeds Sittner as secretary-treasurer.

In charge of the dinner and installation were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Joy, Johns, Kipper and Anderson.

Griess Baby Girl Rites In Sutton
Funeral of Amy Jo Griess, 4 months, will be Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at the Federated Church in Sutton, Neb.

She is the daughter of Lt. and Mrs. Demas Lee Griess of Sutton. Lt. Griess is presently stationed in Louisiana.

She is also survived by a brother, Bryan Douglas, 1 1/2, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Griess of Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Overturf of Edgar.

Landon Proposes Seaton For GOP Nomination In '60

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Fred Seaton, secretary of the interior, was proposed Monday night as the 1960 Republican presidential nominee.

Alf M. Landon, former Kansas governor and 1936 GOP nominee, made the proposal in a nationally televised interview.

"Fred Seaton would make a good candidate and a good president," Landon said.

A native of Kansas, Seaton has represented Nebraska in the U.S. Senate before joining the cabinet.

Also appearing on the program were Dr. Karl Menninger, Topeka psychiatrist, and Kansas Gov. George Docking. They were interviewed at a dinner of the Native Sons and Daughters of Kansas.

Mayor Martin Candidate For Re-Election

Lincoln Mayor Bennett Martin has announced he will seek a new term as mayor at the coming city elections.

Martin, 32, is a Lincoln businessman and president of the Martin Investment Co. His public service began with his election in April, 1955 to the City Council.

He was selected last July by his colleagues to fill out the unexpired term as mayor of Clark Jeary who resigned. This term expires following the May election this summer.

After discussing another term with family and friends, Martin said, "I have decided that if it is the will of the people of Lincoln, I will continue to serve as mayor."

Petitions Reported
Martin said he was prompted to make his announcement at this time because petitions to place his name on the ballot were now in circulation.

To date, the most significant event during Martin's comparative short reign as mayor has been the solution, now near at hand, of the city's sanitary sewer problems.

"Lincoln's growth in the past few years," Martin said, "has been great. The moral fibre of the community must be maintained at the same high level that we have enjoyed from the early years of its existence."

"This can and will be accomplished."

Three other terms on the City Council expire this summer. They are those of Councilman Chauncey W. D. Kinsey, Hugh Thorne and Joseph E. Fenton.

None of the three have indicated whether they will seek re-election.

$1 Million Building Program Ending; Other Events Overcome Fair Loss

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

A 10-year, $1 million building program at the State Fair grounds is nearing an end and a balance of $9,491 has replaced a deficit of $209,000.

This was the report Monday to the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture by Fair Secretary Ed Schultz.

The generally rosy picture of the financial and structural condition of the fair, however, was dimmed by a net loss of around $10,000 in the 1956 fair itself. Schultz attributed the loss to the rain and cold during Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of the fair week.

He told the Ag Board, though, that the loss from the fair proper was made up in other activities at the fairgrounds and resulted in a net profit.

Race Meet
One of these was the "take" from the pari-mutuel races which resulted in a net income of $132,938, which is being used for construction of the new Coliseum, now in the building stage.

Schultz reported the "larger portion" of funds for the improvement of the Fairgrounds has come from this source.

The $132,938 compares to $150,000 for the 1955 racing season which was two days longer than the 1956 season, although there was one additional race a day last year.

The total race receipts were $363,073 with $122,090 used for purses and fees. Total disbursements were $230,134.

Ground Improvements
Schultz reported the $9,491 profit recorded at the beginning of 1957 compared to $80,600 at the start of 1956, but that this money had been turned back in for ground improvements.

Comparative receipts for the past three years showed total receipts down. The 1956 figures were $702,865 compared to $762,966 in 1955 and $714,957 for 1954.

Most of this drop was believed due to the drought and the drop in attendance during the fair itself.

Schultz reported to the Fair Board during the two-day meeting—which concludes with the annual Fair Managers banquet Tuesday night—that "we now have a plant that is valued at over $5 million."

The accomplishments of the fair during the past 57 years, Schultz said, also included 50 buildings and complete paving of the fairgrounds streets. Also, the last building to be built from tax funds was the new 4-H Building in 1931 at a cost of $131,000.

Among the major buildings, according to Schultz' report, are the swine pavilion, industrial arts structure, beef barn, women's building, F.F.A. building and the former sheep pavilion.

Schultz noted the Fair Board in 1946 advanced on a long-term planning program which is just winding up.

Contracts for construction of the Coliseum, last building in the 10-year plan, were let Nov. 14, mostly financed by sale of bonds. Of the total cost of $405,540, Schultz said, $100,000 had to be taken from the general account of the fair finances.

Building Program
A building need program for the future was cited as necessary by Schultz for buildings "that should be constructed as rapidly as funds are available."

The order of their construction should be left to the Board, Schultz said, but the needs include: enlarging the 4-H building for dormitories, demonstration booths and housing of livestock; new women's building for domestic and fine arts, needle work and photography; new F.F.A. building to house exhibits; paddock, jockey quarters and club rooms to house a cafe during the race meet and convertible into F.F.A. dormitories; remodeling or construction of a new Natural History Museum and Game Commission Building.

Of the 1957 fair, Schultz reported the Holiday on Ice show is scheduled for seven nights. There will be three days of big car racing and one day of stock cars. Duncan Renaldo, commonly known as the "Cisco Kid," has been booked tentatively.

Baby Delivered 5 Minutes After Her Mother Dies

OMAHA (AP)—A baby girl was delivered by Caesarean section Monday at an Omaha hospital five minutes after her mother, a polio patient, had died.

The mother was Mrs. Rollie Johnson, 35, Norfolk. Hospital authorities reported the baby was "doing well" and weighed 5 pounds, 15 ounces.

Mrs. Johnson contracted polio in 1952. She was placed in an iron lung Monday and died about an hour and 20 minutes later of what was described as acute heart failure.

City Council As Yet Neutral To Industrial Area Proposal

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln City Council has taken an informal neutral position on a proposed state law permitting counties to establish industrial areas around cities.

When so designated under the law, the areas could not be annexed by a city except by petition from the property owners. Now, cities have the right to initiate annexation of adjacent developed land.

Lincoln officials decided they did not yet know enough about the proposed law to take an affirmative stand. Council members agreed, however, that the bill may be potentially dangerous and that a formal stand on it may be taken later.

Councilman Hugh Thorne said the bill could present "quite a hazard to the growth of Lincoln. Such an industrial area might be placed in the middle of the city's path of residential expansion."

'Could Be Costly'
"It may bring us industry, but it could prove to be a very costly acquisition over the years."

Noting that the measure would provide an industry with all the benefits of a city but none of the tax responsibility, Councilman Pat Ash said he felt "substantial industries which Lincoln would like to have are not interested in shirking their tax responsibilities."

Lincoln's City Planning Commission has taken no stand on the measure but its members informally have expressed opposition to the bill.

City Planning Engineer Douglas Brogren had been advised by Commission Chairman E. J. Faulkner to oppose the bill at its hearing in the Legislature if the City Council so agreed.

Auditorium May Be All Air Cooled

Lincoln's new Pershing Municipal Auditorium may end up completely air conditioned as originally planned.

The City Council has ordered plans and specifications prepared for the purchase of a 500-ton compressor to do the air conditioning job needed for the main floor arena and theater combination. A 200-ton compressor is already installed to handle the manufacture of ice for the ice rink and to cool the basement exhibition hall.

City officials are still uncertain, however, if they have the estimated $70,000 needed for the larger 500-ton unit. Availability of funds will be determined before bids are received on the unit.

All Council members expressed the opinion that the air conditioning was vital to assure a profitable operation of the building. The possibility was mentioned of purchasing the unit on an installment plan basis in anticipation of future auditorium income.

Council Considers New 'Sidewalk' Parking Policy

A new policy governing the parking of cars on public property may be adopted by the City Council.

In question now is the so-called "sidewalk parking" in the area between the curb and the sidewalk lines. The city has granted permits for such parking in some areas and denied the privilege elsewhere.

No such parking has been permitted in areas where there is a time limit parking at the curb. Permits have only been given when the area was to be hard surfaced and posted as public parking.

Some individuals and Council members, however, have objected to the extension of a privilege to some and not to others, on any basis. The Council is considering either the elimination of all such parking, including that now approved, or a more regulated policy on the matter.

$2.5 Million Water Bond Sale OKd

The City Council has introduced and given third and final reading to an ordinance for the sale of $2.5 million in water revenue bonds.

The bonds are part of the $8.5 million issue authorized by the voters for extension and improvement of Lincoln's water works system. Work to be financed with the $2.5 million has already been contracted for.

Traffic Court Case Cutting Law OKd

The City Council has passed on third and final reading an ordinance to lighten the load of cases in Municipal Court.

The ordinance will permit payment by waiver of traffic tickets issued for parking where such a violation obstructs the flow of traffic. Previously, such violations had to be processed through the court but will now be payable by waiver, if so desired, through the court clerk's office.

Also passed on third reading was an ordinance for creation of a paving district in 49th from Meredith to Pioneers.

New York City To Give King Saud Cold Shoulder

NEW YORK (AP) — King Saud of Saudi Arabia neared American shores Monday night as the federal government launched a red carpet welcome for him. But New York City will give him the cold shoulder.

Saud is due here Tuesday en route to Washington to talk with President Eisenhower on Middle East affairs.

Monday the Air Force sent six

B-47 jet bombers hundreds of miles out to sea to salute the liner Constitution as it bore Saud toward New York.

The U.S. Navy, the United Nations and the White House all have elaborate plans for his reception with full honors upon arrival.

But Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York ruled out an official Manhattan welcome for Saud, including the traditional ticker tape parade normally staged for visiting celebrities.

"In With Nasser"

"He seems to be in with (Egyptian President) Nasser and practices discrimination against religion," declared Wagner.

Chief opposition to Saud as an honored guest of this country has come from Jewish groups, who accuse him of anti-Jewish actions in the Middle East.

In Washington, the State Department declined comment on Wagner's rebuff to Saud.

At about dawn, Saud will be transferred from the Constitution to a U.S. destroyer.

Lodge To Greet Him

At the pier, Saud will be greeted by ambassador to the United Nations Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who will act as President Eisenhower's personal representative.

A police motorcycle escort then will conduct the King across town to the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, where the 35th floor presidential suite has been prepared for him.

President Eisenhower's personal plane will fly the King to Washington Wednesday. There, for the first time since he has been president, Eisenhower will leave the White House to welcome a foreign visitor in person at the airport.

PWs Well Treated

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — Israeli citizens took nearly 6,000 Egyptian prisoners of war on sight-seeing tours before they were sent home. The Israeli army sponsored the trips with civilians to resorts, public works projects, hospitals and collective settlements. Then the prisoners were entertained in Israeli homes. "We just wanted them to see how people work and live here," one officer said.

Name, Visit Story Behind Decision By NU Graduate To Become Lawyer

Charles Evans Hughes of Lincoln, namesake of the late chief justice of the Supreme Court, is scheduled to receive his Bachelor of Laws degree Saturday from the University of Nebraska.

The story of how Hughes decided upon the law profession centers on his name and a Sunday afternoon visit.

He explained that as a small boy he corresponded with the famous man whose name he bears. While serving in the Army in 1945, he arranged to meet the Chief Justice in Washington.

The younger Hughes said the Chief Justice had "the warmest handshake and keenest mind" of any man he had ever met. This Sunday afternoon visit at Justice Hughes' home resulted in the boy's decision to become a lawyer.

Now 12 years and another war later he has realized this goal.

Hughes, son of Mrs. Mae Hughes, will be employed as an attorney for the State Department of Roads and Irrigation after graduation.

He is married to the former Jacqueline Lee of Brownlee. They have two children—a boy, 4, and a girl, 18 months.

Edmundson Blast At Ike Brings Ouster

TOKYO (Tuesday) (AP) — The U.S. Information Agency Tuesday fired its official in Korea after he called President Eisenhower's Middle East plan "a blank check for one-man rule."

A terse Washington announcement said Charles Edmundson violated agency personnel regulations and is being recalled.

Officials said the agency's mission is to carry out U. S. policy, not to make it.

Reached by telephone, Edmundson told a reporter:

"My plans are to go back to Washington and to say with more force ... the things I said Sunday. I said what I believed in. I'm willing to accept whatever action that entails."

'Beyond Brink'

Edmundson was referring to the statement he handed reporters on a visit to Tokyo.

It said the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine "may lead us beyond the brink and into atomic war."

Edmundson charged hundreds of millions of U. S. aid to undeveloped countries "is wasted by being channeled through speculators, profiteers, grafters and politicians."

The four-page statement also criticized setting up U. S. atomic bases abroad and attacked the State Department for refusing to allow U. S. newsmen to visit Red China.

Edmundson, 53, has been a U. S. information official since 1949.

War Flares Again

A year ago a piece of laudable inter-state warfare broke out. It found Audubon, Iowa, pitted against Cozad, Nebraska, in a pork eating battle. Audubon appetites exceeded those of Cozad and honors went to Iowa.

While it must be admitted that the two valiant towns left a good deal of the nation's surplus pork still resting in the coolers the battle served an extensive purpose in dramatizing the national pork problem.

Now the two communities have joined in battle again. This time they will see which can raise the most money for the National Heart Fund. The Nebraskans will work the state beginning February 24 by stage coach. The Iowans have plans of their own.

We must say this is the kind of warfare that suits the two states which have so long lived side by side so comfortably. It is the kind of warfare that is at once amusing and constructive. Nebraska unquestionably will rally to the Cozad stage coach for the honor of the state and a good time will be had by all.

Such community spirit must also be recommended. Unquestionably such ventures attract widespread favorable publicity for that they have civic value. But they also demonstrate a healthy, wholesome, optimistic and thoughtful spirit which attracts warm interest. Communities which think up and do such things offer a stimulating experience to their citizens and bring community service to a new high level.

The Minnesota Adventure

It will be the case in most states—Nebraska no exception—that the new demands for greater tax revenue will prompt a search for expedients. Too frequently it has been the practice to attach levies where there is least protest and easiest opportunity, insufficient thought being given to results in terms of fairness and general economic welfare.

In the light of that the current adventure to reorganize the tax practices of Minnesota is well worth close attention.

Minnesota is attempting to achieve its needed extra tax income by improving assessment and collection procedures and by a readjustment of its levies for better equalization of the load. The program is the result of a six months study by a special 20-member governor-appointed commission, comprised of leaders of industry, agriculture and labor.

The commission was ready for the opening of the legislature with 50 recommendations based on a detailed fact-finding study. The commission believes its program will bring about fairer taxation, yielding more money with less threat to the economic welfare of any of the state's tax-paying groups.

The Minnesota legislature may not accept the program. The program if accepted may not fulfill the promises of the commission. But any such failure could more be the result of faulty research than of principle.

Tax reform is not new and sound planning has many examples of success. An outstanding example is the restudy of the New York tax program prior to World War II under the direction of the then governor Herbert Lehman. It resulted in a reorganization that brought the state more than adequate revenues with less pain than experienced under the earlier program.

Ten-Year Building Program

Nebraska Fair Secretary Ed Schultz and his associates on the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture are entitled to a pat on the back for an impressive record achieved under difficult circumstances.

Mr. Schultz was able to report to the board, meeting Monday for its annual gathering, that a 10-year building program now coming to an end finds a balance of $9,491.00 in the treasury as against a deficit of $209,000.00 10 years earlier. What has been accomplished, then, in this last 10 years is that the board has put through a million-dollar development program without calling upon the legislature for tax funds and at the same time issuing the minimum amount of bonds to be paid off later out of the revenues received as a result of improvements and the developments.

Nebraska's fair, then, was standing on its own feet. It was paying its way, very largely as it went along. In the 57 years of its existence, it has constructed 50 buildings of different design and use on the fairgrounds while completing the paving of the streets.

The building job, outstanding as the record has been, is not complete. As rapidly as funds become available, Secretary Schultz told his associates, the need of the Nebraska State Fair call for enlarging the 4-H club building, for the construction of dormitories, demonstration booths, for the housing of livestock, for a new women's building for domestic and fine arts, including needlework and photography. In addition, before its job is complete, Mr. Schultz pointed out, the grounds call for the construction of a new FFA building to house exhibits of these future farmers of America, for a paddock, for jockey quarters, and for clubrooms as a facility for a cafe during the racing meet. Mr. Schultz also called for remodeling or reconstructing a new natural history museum and a Game Commission building.

It is an ambitious program and unlike development of state fairs in neighboring states, Nebraska is standing on its own feet, largely paying its way as it goes in conformance with the state's tradition. Most of our neighbors—if we recall correctly—make no effort to conduct a state fair on the self-supporting basis but look to the legislature for appropriation of tax funds. Careful planning and excellent management have made it possible for Nebraska to become self-sustaining.

India Gets Reactor

It was an event of considerable import to free Asia when India announced the dedication of its first atomic power reactor in Bombay.

India got into the business through the aid of Britain, Canada, the United States and France. Thus Asia which first learned of atomic power when the bomb was dropped on Japan is at last in a position to use nuclear power for development in contrast to destruction.

Significantly both experiences were received from the West.

The free world can rejoice that it served as an instrumentality for Asian progress and India can make great use of atomic power. With such a factor on its side its economic and social development can be greatly speeded.

But in rejoicing over India the United States has cause for reflection on its own peculiar position. It was the first of the great powers to bring forth harnessed atomic energy. Yet it has made little progress toward the peaceful development of that great force and utilizing it for the fullest good for itself and its allies. Great Britain has embarked on a crash program but not in time to relieve itself and Europe from the menace arising around the oil resources of the Middle East. The United States with its great capacities and its unusual opportunities failed more greatly than the rest in not readying atomic power against such a contingency.

Persevering Man

Should the government strike a medal for monotonous persistence the nation would instantly nominate Senator Bricker of Ohio for the honor of receiving it. And the nation would be justified on the basis of the senator's wistful efforts in behalf of a constitutional amendment to limit the President's treaty making powers.

Sen. Bricker is back again with a rewrite of his proposed constitutional amendment somewhat changed in wording but not in essence nor intent. He yearns for the good old days when world affairs were of no concern to this adolescent, domestic minded nation. But his amendment would have had no more practical value then than now. For in those days there were no treaties to be made of the kind that he thinks ought not to be made and today the size and maturity of the nation requires proportionate responsibility.

Senators' Jaunt Spending Spree

WASHINGTON — Most guarded documents on Capitol Hill are not reports regarding American security but the expense accounts of U.S. Congressmen while traveling abroad. This column, however, has now gained access to some of these top-secret vouchers.

Only reason for the secrecy is to conceal from the public how much money Congressional tourists blow on extravagances. The public has a right to know, however, how their legislators spend the taxpayers' money, especially the fact that an all-time spending record was probably set by Senators Chavez of New Mexico, McClellan of Arkansas, Stennis of Mississippi, and Saltonstall of Massachusetts, who made a lavish tour through European and Mediterranean countries in late 1955.

This column has tried for a year to find out how much this de luxe trip cost the taxpayers. Now the extravagant facts can be told.

McClellan and Stennis took along their wives. Chavez brought his son, Dennis Jr.; personal physician, Dr. William Lovelace of Albuquerque; lawyer, A. T. Hannet and Mrs. Hannet; secretary, Frances Ortiz; and assorted assistants, Charles Davis, Walter Stewart, Gloria Butland, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Merrick.

They traveled on government planes and ships, so the transportation costs can only be estimated. In Spain, Senators McClellan and Stennis decided to go home early and demanded a special Air Force plane. Because of the split party, the Air Force sent two empty planes all the way across the Atlantic to pick them up at an estimated cost of $20,000. When this got into the papers, McClellan hastily arranged commercial transportation for his wife, and both Senators demanded an apology from the Defense Department for embarrassing them.

The senatorial party spent a whopping $37,810.11 for hotels, night clubs, excursions, souvenirs, and the like. They claimed only $1,093 of this was personal; the remaining $36,717.11 was paid by the taxpayers as "official."

Most of their "official" expenses were run up in Paris, Rome and Madrid. They spent $11,004.55 in Spain, $8,393.66 in Italy, and $6,062.84 in France. Next highest bill was charged up in England for $4,674.80. Yet they stayed no more than a week in any country. (Copyright 1957 By Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

U.S. Oil Fails Its Quota—Seaton Eyed

WASHINGTON — The failure of the American oil industry to meet its quotas in the shipment of oil to Europe to make up for losses caused by the closure of the Suez Canal is likely to put that most-favored industry in the deepest trouble it has been in since the days when the trust busters broke up the Rockefeller oil monopoly.

It was revealed by Assistant Secretary of the Interior Felix E. Wormser that the American companies have been delivering only 65 per cent of the amount of oil needed to meet western Europe's shortage. Persons close to the industry insist that in actuality the shortage in deliveries comes closer to 50 per cent.

Senators who have been incensed at the recent increase in the price of crude oil and its products have already threatened a full-scale investigation of the price increases. A number of them have had vigorous complaints from constituents who think that the oil industry has taken advantage of the western world's troubles to increase profits. That investigation will begin Friday through the anti-monopoly subcommittee of the Senate's powerful committee on the judiciary.

The revelation now that the industry is failing to deliver oil to Europe in required quantities is certain to produce heavy pressure for an even more extensive investigation than had been planned. Whether it likes it or not, the oil industry has become an arm of American diplomacy and a vital part of the defense mechanism. If the industry does not effectively serve the needs of defense and of diplomacy, say some senators, then it will be essential that the government see that it does so.

The question in the minds of Democratic senators is whether the industry or the Eisenhower administration is properly to be blamed for the present situation. As in earlier emergency situations, such as World War II and the Korean war, committees from the oil industry, with special exemptions from the Department of Justice from the anti-trust statutes, effectively kept the free world supplied with oil. Such an emergency committee was established to deal with oil problems as a result of the closure of Suez. The trouble is, they say, that Interior Secretary Seaton has failed to use either his influence or his powers to persuade or force the oil industry to perform the needed job. They point out that instead of using his powers to enforce compliance, Secretary Seaton decided to plead with the industry and allowed this luckless task to fall on the shoulders of Assistant Secretary Wormser. If pleading instead of pressure was the method selected to be employed, they say, the job would have been better done by President Eisenhower.

Whatever his reasons for handling the matter the way he has, Secretary Seaton is going to be questioned this week by angry senators. He will be the second cabinet member, following Secretary Dulles, to be put on the hot seat by the Senate Democrats. They have not been happy about Dulles; they will be less happy about Seaton.

The oil industry is deeply divided about the job of supplying Europe's oil deficit. The great international oil companies are on one side, the independents on the other. Not only profits but future positions are at stake.

The British have been angry at Texans whom they blame for taking advantage of their unhappy situation to gouge them on the price of petroleum and its products. They have what appears to be a logical basis for their displeasure. The Texas Railroad Commission, which regulates the production of oil in the state which possesses more than half of all the proved United States oil reserves, has refused to increase production quotas as a result of the emergency. But the recent price increases affect Americans as well as Europeans. (Copyright, 1957, By U.F. Syndicate, Inc.)

Midwest Virtues Shown In Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan. — You can learn a lot of things about America here in its innermost heartland that they don't teach you on Park Avenue or at the corner of Hollywood and Vine. And, generally, you'll be a lot better off.

These are some items that rubbed off my friend Jim Reed, executive editor of the Topeka Daily Capital, during an all-too-brief brush past him. Jim is president of the Native Sons and Daughters of Kansas, group dedicated to the proposition that no matter how high, wide, handsome and prosperous Kansas grows it's got to build on the basic truths promulgated by its hardy founders a century ago.

John Brown's crusade against slavery began in Kansas. Many of the state's first homesteaders came not so much for the land but with the zeal to keep it a free state. Some were to die in "bloody Kansas" to keep it free. Reform, in Kansas, did not begin and end with Carrie Nation and her hatchet attacks on the jug and its users. "Sockless Jerry" Simpson, fiery leader of the populist party, backed away successfully at corruption in government. And Wild Bill Hickok, when made marshal of Abilene, reformed more than one rambunctious rustler before he abruptly met his Maker.

In a day when the nation's business motto was relentlessly becoming "caveat emptor" — let the buyer beware—Kansas introduced the "blue sky law" which regulated and supervised investment companies and served as pilot legislation for the rest of the states. With the entire east holding out, Kansas joined with six other western states to extend suffrage to women. Kansas farmers, toiling virtually 'round the clock, helped put through the nation's first 8-hour day legislation, because it was right.

In a day when public sanitation was almost unheard of, Kansas abolished the traditional and supremely contagious public drinking cup.

It was the first state to swat the fly, banish the roller towel. Its Legislative Council, established in 1935, sharply increases the taxpayer's direct role in the operation of his state government. It's a place, as Jim Reed says of Topeka, "where few have too much, and fewer have too little... a place that's halfway to everywhere." It's a place still "grateful to Almighty God for our civil and religious privileges," as it, constitution affirmed, and still of a mind to "insure the full enjoyment of our rights as American citizens." ### Challenge To Parents

Hubbell, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I once saw a picture called "Is Your Home Fun?" contrasting two types of homes. Fun is a vital element in the training of a child. Are the children of today getting enough fun in the home? Our churches and schools recognize the need for play and have their part in training children but they cannot assume the responsibility of parents whose duty it is to see that their children have proper training in body, mind and soul, and to be willing to set a good example.

The records show that we have about 260,000 in our grade and high schools in Nebraska. The future of our state will depend a lot on the influence and guidance of today's parents as these younger folks will be before too long be our older citizens.

M. W. SMITH

Doctrines And Doctrines

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: No wonder Congress looks askance at the reckless aggregation of words the administration puts out under the name of the Eisenhower doctrine. This doctrine suggests a sort of diplomatic smog in which a timorous and uncertain foreign secretary can operate.

When James Monroe put out his famous doctrine nearly a century and a half ago, he simply asserted there was to be no extension of colonialism in the western hemisphere and that we were prepared to fight to make the principle stand up. And it has stood almost unchallenged for nearly a century and a half. Now, why shouldn't we say in the same frank language that we consider the oil fields of the Near East essential to the economic life of the Atlantic community? Furthermore, that we must have continued free and unrestricted access to these fields, as we have had during the last 25 years? That we are prepared to use force to the uttermost to preserve our essential and undoubted rights in this region?

If we did this, the very clarity and frankness and definiteness of our position would command respect and challenge interference. It would be at once a doctrine and a foreign policy clear and definite that would rally its friends and give pause to its enemies.

Too long we have allowed ourselves and our allies to be whipsawed by a ridiculous dictator hiding behind the skirts of a greater power. The whole thing has become a diplomatic farce. What is needed is a clear statement of strong policy, not a weak and pusillanimous invitation to intolerable continuation of the present situation.

TVA Contribution

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Tennessee Valley Authority is 24 years old. Its annual report shows that it paid the U.S. government $210 million in 1956 beside spending twice that much more for new developments. A million tons of fertilizer were manufactured for tobacco farmers and many municipal distribution systems were served at extremely low rates with electric energy in Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama.

During the First World War, the water power at Muscle Shoals was put into emergency service for the manufacture of ammunition. Soon after the close of the war Henry Ford tried to buy or lease the hydro plant. The private electric companies were successful at thwarting him. Sen. George Norris saw the social and economic advantages of broadening the program that had been planned by Ford, and persuaded the Congress to make a small initial appropriation for the project that has become known as TVA. It has always met with strong opposition by the utility corporations, the last effort being that of Dixon-Yates and Southern Utilities.

On the same broad theory of public service and as a yardstick for rates, the Rural Electrification Administration was set up, also at the urging of Senators Norris and O'Mahoney, and Nebraska's hydro plants and distribution system came into being. And we are learning that public ownership of utilities is not so bad in Nebraska—as socialistic as schools and the postal system—and where electric rates are about the only costs that have not gone up during the inflationary trend in business. Many people believe that an MVA would do for the Missouri River Valley what TVA has done for three southern states.

Cost Of Hunting

Daykin, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am a farmer and consequently my land provides a natural habitat for the game birds in this area. I have purchased a hunting and fishing license since I was 16 years of age. I love to hunt and especially fish, but fear the termination of that privilege is near at hand due to this unnecessary hike in license fees.

The majority of farmers are very much against this increase in fees. It is my belief that a few "sportsman" organizations are trying to monopolize the legislation regarding our hunting and fishing laws. Many farmers have informed me that they will not purchase a license if the fee is increased. After all, we feed the birds and provide cover for them. I have never posted my farm, but will definitely refuse hunters on my property if this unfair bill passes.

Just explain this raise in fees to some young fella who hasn't that $3.50.

E. HONOR

Editor's note: The incentive back of the legislation to increase hunting fees seems to be the cry for more revenue. It is the same cry which virtually every agency of state government raises. There is such a thing as pricing the hunter out of the market.

The Dulles Policy

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Secretary Dulles does not wish to report a full explanation of our Middle Eastern policy to the Senate. He alleges that it would expose our intentions to the Russians. But Mr. Dulles' policies have lost to the West the world's richest oil supplies. Europe is rationed and partly closed down for lack of oil and power. The United States has increased costs for gasoline and fuel. Mr. Dulles has remarked that he "does not want an English or a French soldier by his side" in the Middle East.

Just what is it that Mr. Dulles is keeping so secret from the Russians? It may be conjectured that the Russians are not curious. They have plans of their own. The Senate should insist that Mr. Dulles let Americans in on the benefits of his policy.

Search For Truth

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Thanks to Mrs. Orr and Mrs. Hornung for renewing my zeal for truth.

The Bible is the written Word of God but there is another Word of God known as tradition, some of which is written and some spoken, and St. Paul says to hold fast those traditions whether by word of mouth or by epistle. He wrote of his followers as considering his words as what they are—the Word of God. I don't go to my Bible for guidance because it says Christ left a church on earth to perpetuate His work in all nations until the end of time. The plainest and most emphatic teachings of the Gospels attest that fact, and history, tradition and common sense support it.

John wrote to the seven churches of Asia for the same reason that Paul wrote his epistles. Those seven churches consisted of members who were converted through teaching and preaching. All but two had fallen morally or from the faith and needed to be reprimanded, warned and told to do penance. Jesus didn't tell John to write letters to communities which had never been taught and converted to Him. To do that would contradict His commission to His church.

If Bible readers accepted only such things as are found in the Bible, they must have read between the lines to find out what to call their many denominations as well as the names of their founders.

I wonder if Mrs. Hornung really believes the Holy Spirit to be so self-controversial as to have led men in their founding of 600 or more denominations and to lead a person into one faith today and another tomorrow.

W. H. AMES

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The recent version by W. H. Ames (Jan. 21) was very well stated and should be given careful consideration by searchers. The replies by Mrs. Louis Hornung and Mrs. Clara Orr (Jan. 26), however, failed to impress me. Their opinions of Bible quotations to support their views are of private interpretation, the very thing that searchers cannot accept. The Bible by itself has never served any purpose but to create a stalemate between people of different faiths. If a person wants to believe a certain way, he can find many Bible quotations that seem to support his views. But along comes another person who believes just the opposite and he also points to Bible passages that appear to support his beliefs. Which one is right? This would surely seem to justify the need for a supreme authority to interpret the Word of God as one for all people. If the Bible is an authority by itself, then it would seem anyone could write scripture and state that he was divinely inspired while writing it.

I wish to remind searchers for the truth to give fair consideration to the arguments and opinions of all sides in conflicting points of church history and doctrines. To consider only one side of any issue is, it seems to me, to be bigoted and narrow-minded.

PAUL H. TRACY

Stiffer Penalty

Wilber, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I can't resist writing and giving my opinion on stiffening the penalty for rape. A bill suggesting life imprisonment for this offense was held over. I do not favor life imprisonment because the family would suffer as well as taxpayers. Why not necessary medical attention so they would be harmless to the public? Such a solution would be cheaper and better for everyone.

CAN'T WIN THEM ALL
It's easy to stop and it's easy to find
Excuses to rest and to linger behind.
An alibi something that few will believe.
It's only the losers it seems to deceive.

The ball players say that "you can't win them all."
If there's comfort in that, it's exceedingly small.
But a wiser remark I once heard from a wit:
"You can't win at all if too early you quit."

So stay to the finish; keep on with the test.
If defeat you must take, then go down at your best.
Fight on to the last; keep your hopes running high.
You can't win them all but, at least, you can try.

CPPD Norfolk Projects To Total $534,890

NORFOLK—Consumers Public Power District plans to invest about $534,890 in construction projects in the 11-county Norfolk District during 1957.

Well over half the construction layout for the 11 counties in northeast Nebraska—$389,500—is scheduled to be invested in local distribution line work in 13 cities and for transmission line projects.

This Madison County city of about 12,000 people is scheduled for approximately $100,000 in direct local distribution jobs which will include new transformers, meters and associated equipment, and improved street lighting.

The big job at Norfolk, planned to cost around $24,000, is converting the city's power distribution system from the present "delta" setup to a "wye" system.

C. C. Crawford, CPPD's Norfolk District manager, pointed out that Hoskins, Humphrey, Uehling, Scribner, Oakland, Tekamah, Tilden, Homer, Cedar Rapids, Newman Grove, Lindsay, Albion, Bancroft, Beemer and Fullerton are scheduled to have some revamping of their local distribution systems. He stated that plans call for an anticipated expenditure of $3,600 in Cedar Rapids, about $2,700 in Hoskins, $2,300 in Albion and Fullerton, $2,000 in Humphrey, and lesser amounts (about $1,500) in the other seven communities.

The transmission line melon, planned for about $197,100, will be split among seven projects. The largest planned job is an investment of about $105,000 for the rebuilding of 15 miles of a 34,500-volt line in the Stanton area. That line was constructed about 32 years ago. The project calls for the use of steel-reinforced aluminum wire and includes 3½ miles of under-build for farm customers.

Another large transmission job is the scheduled $42,500 investment for rebuilding 17 miles of 34,500-volt line between Monroe and Woodville.

One of the main industries around Arizona is the dude ranch. And the other day I was over by Wickenburg to watch the cowboys sashay around in their $40 britches.

I have concluded that it is well worthwhile. If I had the money, I would go out and be a dude. Better, I would buy myself a dude ranch and charge dudes high prices for sitting on the empty saddles, in my old corral.

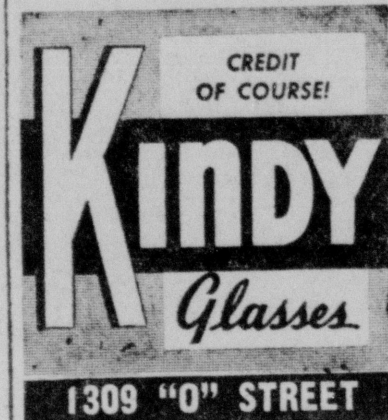

Once when I was duding around one of these spreads, I used to go down and see the head dude wrangler who, naturally, was called "Tex."

Tex read Western stories by the bucketful—he had a whole pile of them stashed in his bedroom. All worn and thumbed.

He knew how a cowboy should act therefore. A cowboy should be stern and closemouthed. I rarely heard Tex mutter more than "yep" or "nope."

"Do you like this work?" I said.

"Yep."

New Route Study Proposal Tangles Commission Interstate Highway Talk

By BETTER PERSON
Star Staff Writer

A warm debate between State Engineer L. N. Riss and State Highway Commission member J. R. McBride of Minden over the Interstate Highway developed Monday at a meeting of the commission.

The discussion was touched off when McBride proposed a motion requiring that the "Highway Department make further studies of feasible locations, as to cost, mileage and convenience to the traveling public, and when studies are completed that a public hearing be held with the Governor, State Engineer and a representative of the Bureau of Public Roads present... that the surveys' findings be reported and anyone wanting to appear be given the right at that time."

McBride said it was his understanding that one route across the state had been approved but he thought different locations should be studied. He continued, "All of us realize how important the Interstate Highway is... it will change business and industry population... cost a lot of money and we shouldn't be too hasty in making decisions."

Riss then read part of the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1956 to the Commission and explained that one route has been approved across the state but emphasized this does not close the door to other routes.

The highway chief told the Commission that under the federal act the states had to submit an estimate of needs by January, 1957, in order to be eligible for federal funds.

Estimate Before Location
Riss said, "We had to submit an estimate on the basis of needs and didn't even know where the (highway) location would be."

The State Engineer then said that the department must submit an estimate based on sound engineering principles by Jan. 1, 1958 and Riss declared, "We contracted with a consulting firm over a year ago on the Omaha-Lincoln segment and we still don't have the results of that study. How are we going to make a sound engineering estimate of 500 miles of road in a year when it's taken them more than that for a 60-mile segment?"

Riss then said that any feasible route will be studied, but each one added would prolong the time for completing the engineering analysis.

The State Engineer then said, "I assure you the Nebraska Highway Department, the Bureau of Public Roads and Civil Defense will build a road to serve the most people the cheapest it can be constructed, that's the only way we build roads."

'Not Hiding Anything'
Riss said, "I'm not hiding anything from anybody; if anyone wants information they can ask for it." He said he has talked about the Interstate Highway "for months and had press releases about it constantly, but I'm going to make one more try. They're

Ogier Again Heads State Road Group

Ray Ogier of North Platte was re-elected chairman of the State Highway Commission Monday at the group's monthly meeting. The Commission also rehired Owen Boyles as secretary.

Four road delegations appeared before the commission seeking additional extensions of the state's highway network. Delegations included:

Highway 92
Association from Arthur. The Commission said that it plans to study the association's request to extend Highway 92 west from Arthur, its present point of termination.

Arthur County said it would match federal funds on a 50-50 basis to get the road built as far west as the Garden County line. The state eventually would be expected to take over the road's maintenance, however.

A 22-member group from Howe, seeking state maintenance of a one-mile spur road from Howe west to Stella and Highway 73-75. The Commission said the state is prevented by law from taking over the spur road, since Howe is not an incorporated village.

Representatives from Harvard, seeking a two-mile state road from Harvard to the Harvard Airport, and representatives from Manley, seeking a half-mile state road from Manley to Highway 50.

By a 5-1 vote the Commission denied a request to place old statutory highway 250 back in the state system from Rushville south to Smith Lake.

Bill Would Allow Counties To Levy Sales Tax

A "County Sales and Use Tax Act," LB 512, introduced Monday by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, would make the use of such a tax optional with the counties.

Counties that adopted the sales tax would have to use the revenue as a replacement for property taxes collected by the counties or by their political subdivisions, the measure specifies.

Exceptions would be made in the case of certain school districts overlapping county lines and in the case of political subdivisions which need more money than a sales tax produces to meet the obligations of bonded indebtedness.

The people of a county could vote on adoption of a sales tax either by order of the county board or after submission of petitions signed by 10 per cent of the legal voters in the county.

Lienemann Says Measure Needed If No State Action
Lancaster County Board Chairman, Del Lienemann, commenting on Sen. Carpenter's county option sales tax bill, said "permissive legislation to broaden the local tax base is needed if not done on a state-wide basis."

However, Lienemann felt the counties would get more relief from a combination income and sales tax bill scheduled for hearing Thursday.

Lienemann said the combination tax bill would do the same thing as Carpenter's bill, pointing out that about 90 per cent of a sales tax would come back to the counties.

The combination sales-income tax would reduce the burden on real estate throughout the state about 40 per cent, he said. Commissioner Russell Brehm said he would be opposed to any sales tax at the county's option, pointing to inequities that would result from its adoption by one county and not another.

When someone's counting on you...
you can count on life insurance

Your life insurance gives him immediate protection—for the full amount

From the day you get a policy you know your family is protected for the full amount of the contract.

More than three-quarters of a million dollars a week is now going to families of policyholders who died less than a year after buying their policies.

The kind of protection that life insurance alone can give you is the basic reason why it is owned by six out of seven families.

But Americans use life insurance in other ways, too. For example, your policies can help you accumulate money for children's education... for emergencies... for your own retirement. The best person to explain these additional uses is your own life insurance agent.

You will also find helpful suggestions in the new booklet, Your Life Insurance—and How to Use It, which we have prepared as a service for America's policyholders. Your free copy will be mailed promptly; simply send your name and address on a postcard to Dept. E.

Three Committees To Study Legal Notice Snarl

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

The State Judicial Council named three subcommittees Monday to consider the matter of the legality of and need for publication in three judicial and administrative areas.

The Council meeting Monday was called because of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling stating that publication of notice of special assessments and other judicial and civil actions was invalid.

Three Areas

The Council established three areas of special consideration by the three study sub-committees. They are for probates, special assessments, and civil actions. The committees include:

Probate: W. E. Garrison, county judge at Nelson; Kenneth B. Holm, Omaha; Herman Ginsburg, Lincoln.

Ordinance Introduced To Solve Special Assessment Dilemma

An ordinance to solve the city's special assessment dilemma has been introduced to the City Council and given first and second readings.

The ordinance prescribes the procedure for the Council to follow in fixing special improvement district assessments. Personal service of notice by registered or certified mail is required on all special assessments.

The city previously gave only newspaper publication of notice of special assessments. A recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling said assessments without an effort to give personal notice were illegal in coln; Fred T. Hanson, McCook, and Franklin L. Pierce, Grand Island.

Municipal assessments: L. J. Te-Poel, Omaha; George Pardee, Omaha; William Baird, Omaha; Warren Johnson, Lincoln, and Jack Pace, city attorney of Lincoln.

General civil actions: Judge Fay H. Pollack, Stanton; Ross Shurtleff, Norfolk; Daniel Stubbs, Alliance; John W. Delehant Jr., Omaha, and C. M. Pierson, Lincoln.

Naming of the subcommittees followed a morning meeting of the Council during which state attorneys offered opinions on the effects of the ruling. One attorney, William Baird of Omaha, said any proposals should have "much study or we may have a remedy worse than the disease."

He cited a possible instance that they deprived the individual of due process of law.

The city had stopped all its assessments and other improvement district activity pending development of a solution to the conflict between the court ruling and the city's procedure.

Public Works Director D. L. Erickson was instructed by the Council Monday to advise contractors that work would now proceed in the regular way on the widening and resurfacing of South from 30th to 48th. Bids will be received on this project this Wednesday and part of the cost of the improvement is to be assessed back against abutting properties.

OLD SCHOOL TIES

When the ten outstanding young men of the nation for 1956 were honored last week by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce in Dallas, the University of Nebraska was a topic of conversation for two who attended the festivities. They were Richard F. Pederson (left), a Department of State Foreign Service Officer and one of the ten, and Wallace E. (Pete) Snelson, vice president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, both of whom studied German at the University of Nebraska in the Army specialized training program in 1943-44.

Engineers Elect Chevront

The Engineers Club of Lincoln Monday night elected T. C. Chevront of the State Department of Roads and Irrigation president of the club for 1957.

D. L. Renner of Consumers Public Power District was elected secretary-treasurer.

The club awarded the distinguished member citation for 1957 to H. C. Schlueter, deputy city engineer. The award was presented by last year's recipient, Prof. A. A. Luebs of the mechanical engineering department of the University of Nebraska.

More than 70 members attended the meeting which opened with an inspection of the new city auditorium. The club held a dinner followed by a business meeting and a safety talk by Gifford Mullins, executive director of the Lincoln-Lancaster Safety Council.

Life membership awards were presented to Arthur A. Dobson, deceased; R. E. Bollen of the Highway Research Board of Washington, D.C.; Glen C. Moorman of Consumers; Henry G. Schlitt, deputy state engineer; G. G. Robinson of Dobson & Robinson Const. Co., and Harold W. Stanton of Central Electric and Gas Co.

50 Sick

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Fifty airmen at Elmendorf Air Force Base near here were reported acutely ill of food poisoning.

A military spokesman described the men as "all very sick."

He said they were admitted to the Air Force Hospital and are undergoing emergency treatment. The 50 men all live in the same barracks building. They were stricken following dinner in the barracks mess hall.

Jack Danek New Head Of Lincoln Food Retailers

Jack Danek has been installed as the new president of the Lincoln Food Retailers Association. He succeeds Leonard Stransky.

Also installed at the monthly meeting of the association were Henry Reifschneider, vice president; Sam Poska, secretary; and Jack Kennedy, treasurer.

Hugh Thorne served as installing officer.

where a municipality of 3,500 persons would decide to have a new sewer system, want to pass bonds and each landowner would have to be given personal notice of the special assessment.

Baird said he "didn't think any bill should be so broad to include the situation" he'd outlined.

Lincoln attorney Willis Hecht, counsel for the Board of Education, advised the Council "not to panic and introduce hasty or ill-advised legislation."

Lincoln City Atty. Jack Pace and Omaha City Atty. Edward Fogarty both were present at the meeting and concurred in the testimony of Hecht and Baird.

Supreme Court Justice Edward F. Carter, chairman of the Judicial Council, said the problem of notice of assessment involves any procedure where publication of notice is used. This would include foreclosure, partition, sale of real estate, assessment and probate.

The subcommittees have 30 days in which to make their reports to the Council. Any legislation that may be indicated at the end of this period would be introduced through the Government Committee headed by Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala.

Appear Agreed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the 21 American republics appeared agreed on a plan to provide facilities for peaceful use of atomic energy.

Argentina and Brazil both put in bids for the site of an international atomic institute which some delegates said should be established as part of the program.

SUBURBIA

As our little friend George Gobel would say, there are many things going on in our suburban community of Eastbridge this week. First of the wires we have some newcomers in the area and two farewells in order. We've also learned about a forthcoming trip and several parties of interest.

We bid welcome this morning to Maj. and Mrs. Ivan C. Henry and their son, Lee, who are at the moment in the throes of moving into their new home at 840 Robert Rd. Maj. and Mrs. Henry arrived in Lincoln in September after a two and one half year tour of duty in Rabot, French Morocco, and a year and one half in Germany.

Time is drawing near for the departure of Mr. and Mrs. William Golding from Eastbridge to their new home in Miami, Fla. Mr. Golding will be leaving around Feb. 10, motoring with the four oldest children, Diane, Gregg, Kent, and Gayle. A few days later Mrs. Golding and her new son, Gary Patrick, will be flying to Miami to join the rest of the family.

In farewell courtesy to Mrs. Golding Mrs. John Hedge was hostess to friends last Friday morning when she entered at a coffee at her home. Sharing honor with Mrs. Golding was Mrs. William Bock of Hastings. Entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Golding at a small dinner party on Wednesday evening will be Mr. and Mrs. William Lofink.

A duo courtesy will be the event of Friday morning when Mrs. Sanford Porter will entertain at a coffee at her home. Honorees will be Mrs. Golding and Mrs. William Rolfmeyer, a new resident in the Eastbridge community, and guests will include 12 neighborhood friends.

Mrs. Joseph Pavlas bid good bye to Eastbridge friends on Saturday, and departed with her three children, Mary Lee, Jay, and Michael, for Waco, Tex. to join Capt. Pavlas, and settle in her new home.

Other travelers in the news this week are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kinsey, who will be leaving, Friday for La Grange, Ill. where they will visit Mrs. Kinsey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Newman. Accompanying the Kinseys on the trip will be their young son, Robert Newman Kinsey.

Entertaining friends at a March 10 Dimes coffee last Thursday were Mrs. Everett Caudel and Mrs. Gayle Chambers. The affair was held at the Caudel home and the guest list included Mrs. Edward Veilva, Mrs. Larry Capes, Mrs. Charles O'Brien, Mrs. Murry Jett, Mrs. Herman Tiede, Mrs. George Fletcher, Mrs. Gene Nutty, Mrs. Oliver Fowler, Mrs. Vernon Cole, Mrs. LeRoy Kutscher, and Mrs. Baxter Turner.

Members of a new bridge club in Eastbridge met at the home of Mrs. Murray Jett last Tuesday afternoon for a session at the card table and a dessert luncheon. The group includes Mrs. Jett, Mrs. Gene Nutty, Mrs. Francis Strom, Mrs. William McLennan, Mrs. Larry Capes, Mrs. Harrison Stone, Mrs. Richard Westerman, and Mrs. Thomas Morgan, who was not present at this get together. A guest for the great afternoon was Mrs. Joseph Pavlas.

OWC Names Chairmen

Mrs. Marvin Pope, newly-elected president of the Lincoln Air Force Base Officers Wives Club, has announced the appointment of new committee chairmen for the club who will take over their duties in February.

Parliamentarian for the club will be Mrs. R. W. Bond, and serving as chairmen under Mrs. Leman Herridge, first vice president, will be Mrs. W. W. Hudkins, social; Mrs. J. W. Sweesy, program; Mrs. Vernon Biaett, games; Mrs. R. J. Greene and Mrs. Robert Dorothy, reservations; Mrs. Leo Beers, welcome; Mrs. L. M. Walrath, public relations; and Mrs. Wayne Wentworth, editor of Jet Skirts.

Committee chairmen who will serve under Mrs. T. J. Flannigan, second vice president, are Mrs. James Peerman, welfare; Mrs. D. M. Conlan, ways and means; Mrs. C. F. Gove, sports; Mrs. Theron Crorey, homemaking; Mrs. Delos Richard, Red Cross; and Mrs. J. D. Chambers, nursery.

Candlelight Ceremony

MRS. ROBERT EARL MARES

At a candlelight ceremony solemnized Sunday afternoon, Jan. 20, Miss Lorene Faye Yost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Yost of Wilber, became the bride of Robert Earl Mares, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mares of Lincoln. White feathered carnations and greenery decorated the altar of the First Evangelical Lutheran Church at Wilber for the double ring service, which was read by the Rev. H. C. Cordus, and Mrs. B. J. Klasek, pianist, played the wedding music and accompanied the vocal soloist, Delbert L. Reiss.

As her twin sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Delbert L. Reiss appeared in a full-skirted frock of green velvet ending in hem-length streamers at the back. Wearing alike sheath frocks of green velvet were the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Ackerman of Grafton and Miss Betty Springer of Wilber. The attendants completed their costumes with caps of velveteen widely-brimmed with tulle, and carried nosegays of gardenias. Miss Polly Ruff of Lincoln was the flower girl, and Arlin Mares, Lincoln, brother of the bridegroom, was the ringbearer. Lighting the candles were Miss Shirley Chab of Wilber, and Miss Bonnie Barney, Lincoln.

Richard Clarence of Lincoln served as best man, and the ushers were Vernon Mares, Lincoln, and Raymond Broz, Wilber.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white velvet and floral-embroidered silk taffeta. Embroidered scallops of the taffeta framed the shoulder-wide decolletage of the fitted, silk bodice, and the sleeves were long and tapered. Beneath full-gathered panniers of the taffeta, the velvet skirt flared into waltz length, and her veil of illusion was held by a pearl-trimmed circlet of velvet. She carried a lace-covered prayer book ornamented with gardenias.

THE NEWS market is flourishing this ayem—a variety of parties for a variety of reasons. There is little time left in Lincoln for Mr. and Mrs. William Golding and their family, who leave early in February for Miami, Fla., where the Goldings will reside.

OUR NEW NEIGHBORS

We first began our introduction of Lincoln's new neighbors nearly six years ago under the title of "Introducing"—Then the new neighbors came so thick and fast that we gave up the idea of introducing one family at a time, and covered more territory—Later we decided to give our neighbors a rest.

However so many interesting people have arrived in Lincoln within the past few weeks that we wanted to tell the populace about them—

Everyone loves a bride and we have two in our New Neighbor news this morning—One of them is Mrs. Ray Freeman who is the former Margaret King of Romford, Essex, England. It was while he was stationed in England that Capt. Freeman met his bride, but the wedding took place in the States just last month—Dec. 29. Prior to coming into the States, however, Mrs. Freeman resided in Canada for eight months.

Capt. and Mrs. Freeman moved into their new home at 731 Eastborough Lane just a matter of days ago.

Our second bride is Mrs. Earl Horrocks who, with S/Sgt. Horrocks arrived in Lincoln about 10 days ago, Sgt. and Mrs. Horrocks were married in Grosse Pointe, Mich., the bride's home, on Dec. 22. Before her marriage Mrs. Horrocks was in nurse's training at Harper Hospital in Grosse Pointe.

Sgt. Horrocks and his bride now are residing at 3743 So. 48th St., Apt. 1.

We thought perhaps Maj. and Mrs. Herbert C. Engelbrecht and their two young daughters, Lynn, who is seven years old and goes to Capitol School, and Patricia, just four, might be a little discouraged with Lincoln's welcoming weather. The Engelbrechts arrived in Lincoln from a tour of duty overseas—France and Germany—by way of West Palm Beach, Fla., and their current address is 1800 C St. But our worries for the Engelbrechts were for naught—They aren't too unhappy about the weather, but will be happier when the temperatures arise to a nice spring level.

It's a different story with Maj. and Mrs. George W. Leggat who are just about settled in their new home at 2009 So. 47th St. The Leggats arrived from Monterey, Calif., where Mrs. Leggat resided during Maj. Leggat's tour of duty in Korea. He returned to the States last September and after that there was leave—followed by a sojourn in Wichita, Kan. The holidays were spent in Monterey and from there back to Wichita for a brief stay before coming on to Lincoln and the Lincoln Air Force Base. The very small traveling companion of Maj. and Mrs. Leggat was Quita—the Chihuahua and household pet—who doubtless abhors what Lincoln has offered so far in the way of weather.

When we first heard that Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Jackson and their daughter, Christine, had arrived from Salinas, Kan., we naturally thought they were to be part of Lincoln's Air Force Base. But they aren't. Mr. Jackson is with the Department of Agriculture, the Soil Conservation division.

But Lincoln is not a strange community to either Mr. or Mrs. Jackson—Both of them were graduated from the University of Nebraska, and we wouldn't be at all surprised but what campus circles of 10 or 12 years ago, will remember Bernice Carlson. Miss Christine celebrated her 13th birthday by moving into the Jackson's new home at 3020 Strauss Ct.

Although they are newcomers to Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Hirsch, their daughter, Kerry, and son, Jeffrey, are Nebraskans. They arrived in Lincoln just the other day from North Platte where they have been residing. And their Nebraska residence goes even farther back than North Platte—Both Mr. and Mrs. Hirsch are natives of Lexington.

Right now Mr. and Mrs. Hirsch and their family are residing at 3277 C St.

It isn't so far from Prairie Village, Kan. (a suburb of Kansas City) to Lincoln and Mr. and Mrs. Thad E. Nichols and their daughter, Nancy, made it without any trouble. And once more we find a former Nebraskan among our new residents—Mrs. Nichols resided in Crete before her marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Nichols—he was transferred to Lincoln as territorial manager for a farm equipment company—and their daughter have just moved into their new residence at 3429 So. 40th St.

Our next introduction involves another Air Force officer and his family—We are happy to present Capt. and Mrs. Theodore L. Beams and their young daughter, Becky, who is seven and a half years old and goes to St. Patrick's School. Capt. and Mrs. Beams and their daughter came to Lincoln from Waco, Tex.—And have just arrived. Slowly but surely they are getting settled at their new address, 2517 No. 64th St.

Install New Officers

New officers of the Lincoln Toastmistress Club were installed Monday evening when the members met for dinner at the Capital Hotel. From the left are, seated, Mrs. C. J. Martens, president; Mrs. Chester Beckwith, vice president; standing, Mrs. Bernie Camp, installing officer; Miss Mercedes Ames, treasurer,

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stiner entertained informally at their home to say goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Golding.

AND complimenting Mrs. Golding this morning will be Mrs. L. A.

Overton who has invited 10 guests for a 10 o'clock coffee at her home. The honoree will be presented with a farewell gift.

ON Thursday morning's calendar is the coffee for which Mrs. J. R. Seacrest and Mrs. Jack Stewart will be hostesses at the home of Mrs. Seacrest with Mrs. Golding as the honoree. The 15 guests have been invited for 10 o'clock.

But there is more news concerning Mr. and Mrs. Seacrest—at least Mr. Seacrest. It seems that Mr. Seacrest and John M. Miles share the same birthday anniversary and that for a number of years there has been a family celebration—either at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Miles, or at the home of Mr. Seacrest's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Seacrest. This year the birthday celebration, to be held on Sunday, will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Seacrest.

ONE event brings on thoughts of another—and as we told of Mr. Miles' birthday anniversary we remembered that his daughter, Mrs. Roderick Fletcher and her two young sons have arrived from St. Joseph, Mo., to be on hand for the celebration.

Although Mrs. Fletcher came to Lincoln to participate in festivities for her father, she also is an honoree in her own right this week.

On Wednesday Mrs. Peggy O'Connor will be a morning coffee hostess at her home, in courtesy to her sister, and on Thursday Mrs. Fletcher will be honored informally when Mrs. Gordon Jenkins entertains a foursome at bridge at her home.

ANOTHER guest for whom there has been a flurry of informal entertaining, is Mrs. John Curtis of Danville, Ill., who is the house guest of her cousin, Mrs. Robert Van Dervoort and Mr. Van Dervoort, Mrs. Curtis will leave this evening to return to her home in Danville.

HEAR that a recent bride, Mrs. Larry Garrett, is to be honored on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Bruce Mills and Mrs. Robert Goodrich entertain between the hours of 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock at the Officers Wives Club. Forty guests have been invited.

APPROPOS of brides, or, as in this instance, brides-to-be—we have news this morning of Miss Mary Margaret McKeone who returned home on Sunday from Boston, where she has been a stewardess with the United Air Lines, and whose marriage to Ronald Bennett Madison of Shaker Heights, O., will take place on Saturday, Feb. 16, at St. Mary's Cathedral.

This morning Miss McKeone is announcing the members of the bridal party—

As maid of honor, Miss McKeone has named Miss Margot Hunt, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Barbara Perkins of New York City, Miss Marilyn Wight, Denver, Colo., and Miss Alma Montali, Cleveland, O.

William J. Madison will serve his son as best man, and the corps of ushers will include William J. Madison, Jr., Shaker Heights, brother of the bridegroom elect; Edward Martin, Yonkers, N.Y.; Sam Carpenter, Addyston, O.; and John W. McKeone, brother of the bride-to-be.

Ask a group of musicians, "How do you memorize music?" You may get a surprising variety of answers. To begin with, some of them may balk at the word "Memorize" iting to say self, prefer they "learn" music or "commit" it. So, when we speak of "memorizing," let's think of it as learning to perform a piece of music as it is written but without referring to the printed notes.

Memorizing by sight is valuable because of its speed and its high reliability ... but we find just as many musicians and teachers who stress learning "by ear," by sense of touch, or by harmonic analysis. We'd like to discuss these other memory processes in future columns. Hope you'll watch for them. We won't try to tell you how you should memorize music—that's your business. But we do ask you to remember, for the finest of pianos and organs—"That's Our Business!" You can rely on us to help you make the right choice, at McCabe Piano & Organ Company, 13th & P Streets, Lincoln, Nebr.

Stand Up And Drink Beer Bill Is Advanced

A bill which would allow beer drinkers to imbibe while standing up—now prohibited—was reported out to the Legislature Monday by the Committee on Miscellaneous Subjects.

Also advanced to the floor was a measure limiting jurisdiction of the railway commission over tow and winch truck operations.

LB 122, introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, seeks repeal of a measure requiring that customers of "on sale" beer establishments be seated before being served. The bill was advanced unanimously.

The other measure, LB 155, was

No Action On '5-Mile' Road Measure Yet

No action was taken by the Legislature's Public Works Committee Monday on a bill to require the state to maintain a road to communities within five miles of a state highway.

Sen. Frank Nelson of O'Neill said the measure was drafted primarily to apply to the town of Amelia in Holt County.

However, as written, it would require a state-maintained road to any community within five miles of a state highway if the community has a postoffice, church and school.

A delegation from Amelia, population 42, appeared for the bill.

Main opposition came from State Engineer L. N. Ress who said the measure could affect about 43 communities, many lying just off a dustless surface state highway and where there is no gravel maintenance equipment.

Lancaster Towns

Among the Lancaster County towns which Ress said would be affected are Walton, Agnew, Malcolm and Holland.

Nelson suggested the committee amend the measure so it would apply only to communities lying within five miles of a non-dustless surface state highway.

Otherwise, Ress said, the state would have to contract with counties to maintain such roads covered in the Nelson bill, because the highway department would have to transport machinery at considerable cost to perform the work.

Nelson said since the three-mile Amelia spur was dropped from the state highway system last July, it has been maintained by the county only twice. He added Holt County does not have funds to contract with the state to have it do the work.

N. I. Lupton Rites At Pawnee City

Surviving are his daughters, Mrs. Mildred Orr, Mrs. Norma Doudney, both of Lincoln, and Mrs. Goldie F. Nelson of Cheyenne, Wyo.; sister, Mrs. B. C. Brown of Pawnee City, and six grandchildren.

proposed by Sen. John Aufenkamp of Julian and seeks to repeal a section of state law which requires that winch and tow trucks be licensed by the railway commission when operating out of the five-mile radius of a city or town.

Called 'Asinine'

It was sent to the floor on a 4-2 vote, with one abstention.

During the committee hearing, Charlie Hoyer of Omaha, representing the Nebraska Breweries Assn., labeled the present law which requires that beer drinkers be seated "asinine." He said the law "should be changed."

Hoyer said he could see no reason why beer drinkers have to be seated before being served while "whisky drinkers can stand at the bar."

He was opposed in views by Ray Cox of Waverly, chairman of the legislative committee of the Nebraska Temperance League.

Urges Repeal

On the tow truck issue, Floyd Pohlman, mayor and auto dealer of Auburn, urged repeal of the current tow truck requirement.

He charged the present law makes it possible for those licensed by the board to "monopolize" the tow truck business in a community. He said it would be a "benefit and convenience to the public" by having unrestricted competition.

Ted Richling, Omaha attorney speaking on behalf of opponents of the proposed measure, said that the present law not only is a safeguard to the public but also to the operators themselves.

The law sets up a standard rate of fees and insurance for tow truck operators.

Solons Pass 3 Measures

Three legislative bills were voted into law Monday by the Legislature.

One, LB 4, would eliminate the requirement that holders of a liquor license must live in the city where the license is held. It was introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter.

LB 2, by Sen. Mervin Bedford of Geneva, would appropriate money to pay premiums on officials bonds and insurance of the state treasurer and his deputy.

Sen. Otto Kotouc Sr. of Humboldt was backer of LB 5, which would authorize bank officials who are notaries public to take acknowledgments on instruments given to or by the bank.

All three measures will be sent to the governor for approval or disapproval.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 4 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

RED-HOT DEMARET WINS PLAYOFF

Gains Third Thunderbird Golf Crown

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Gentleman Jimmy Demaret fired three straight birdies at the opposition Monday and proceeded to make a runaway of a three-way playoff for the $2,000 winner's purse of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Golf Tournament.

Demaret spanked the Thunderbird Club Course par 36-35-71 with a sizzling 32-35-67 to whip big Mike Souchak by eight strokes, and young Ken Venturi by nine.

Souchak shot the round in 37-38-75 and Venturi in 39-37-76.

Forty-plus Jimmy amazed the gallery and his rivals with a dazzling display of artistry on the greens. His first three putts for birdies measured 8, 13 and 36 feet.

From then on Demaret, who twice before has won this tournament, was never headed or seriously threatened, while Souchak, who plays out of Grossinger, N.Y., and Venturi, a pro for only two months from San Francisco, engaged in a scrambling match for second money of $1,000.

As Demaret singled the first nine holes with his 32, he headed into the home stretch five shots in front of Souchak and seven ahead of 25-year-old Venturi.

Two double bogey sevens, on the third and 15th holes, killed Venturi.

The youngster, who led the famed Masters last year for three rounds when he was still an amateur, and the Thunderbird event for three rounds, was all over the place.

He found traps, trees and even the overcast pocket of a spectator on the 17th fairway.

Demaret took it easy on the back side and joined in the crowd laughter when he failed to hole, say, a 20-putt. He was that deadly with his putter.

Demaret, resident professional at Kiamnesia Lake, a New York resort hotel, was playing his first tournament here since last September. In the interim he was on the ailing side and underwent minor surgery.

There was no ailing Monday. He had two birdies and two bogeys on the back nine, winding up by missing, of all things, a 3-foot putt on the 18th.

Australian Swimmer Sets Three Marks

BRISBANE (AP)—John Devitt, one of the less heralded of Australia's Olympic swimmers, shattered three world freestyle records in a special event at the Queensland Championships Monday night.

Swimming in a 100-meter event at the Brisbane 50-meter pool, the 19-year-old Devitt bettered long course marks and the short course standard for 100 meters.

Boxing Team Formed

Captain Vernon Elsager, Personnel Services Officer at Lincoln Air Force Base, has announced that a boxing team will be organized at the base.

The team is scheduled to compete in the Great Plains Boxing tournament which is to be held at Lowry Air Force Base in Denver, Colo., Feb. 23.

ACC Nixes N. C. State's Bid For Open Hearing

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The Atlantic Coast Conference, which is conducting its own independent investigation of the Jackie Moreland case, Monday turned down North Carolina State College's request for an open hearing in the matter.

Chancellor Carey H. Bostian received a telegram from ACC Commissioner James H. Weaver stating:

"The faculty chairmen (of the conference) are of the opinion that no different form of investigation should be considered until the results of the investigation now under way have been determined.

"Upon completion of the present investigation, this office will convey the results to the faculty chairmen. You will be advised of their decision in the matter at the earliest possible moment."

The NCAA slapped one of its heaviest penalties in history on State by putting the school on probation for four years for its method of enrolling Moreland.

The ACC followed up this by imposing a $5,000 fine on the school, the heaviest in the conference's brief history, and restricted the recruiting activities of the members of the college's basketball coaching staff.

Members of state's athletic staff involved in the charges have asserted their innocence. Last Friday the college asked the ACC to conduct a "complete and public hearing" on the case.

Last Dec. 21 the school had asked of Weaver that his office conduct an "independent investigation" which is the one now under way.

The NCAA has charged that Moreland was offered "annual cash gifts" and a five-year unrestricted scholarship and promised a seven-year medical education for Moreland's girl friend.

Brooks Want Laughs; Hire Clown Kelly

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Daffy Dodgers, whose outfielders sometimes get hit on the head with fly balls and whose base runners have been known to wind up three on a bag, have decided they can't get enough laughs — so they have hired a clown.

With a completely straight face, Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooklyn baseball club, announced Monday that he had signed Emmett Kelly, renowned clown of the Ringling Brothers Circus.

Kelly's new job won't be to play baseball, O'Malley, was quick to add, but as he put it "to ease the tension at Ebbets Field."

The bulbous-nosed laugh-getter will perform for the Dodgers strictly in character — that is, in his tattered suit and with the soulful, forlorn look that has brought guffaws from millions.

Kelly will join the club at spring training quarters in Vero Beach, Fla. He will make appearances at Miami and at other places.

where the team performs for exhibitions.

He also will join the faculty of the Dodgers' baseball school, preceding the actual training period.

During the season he will be on the field before the games, helping amuse the customers.

O'Malley announced Kelly's services would not be confined to the parent club.

The clown also will make visits to farm clubs such as Montreal, St. Paul and Fort Worth where, the Brooklyn boss implied, people need to laugh some, too.

Kelly was with Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus for 36 years and became the most famous of all clowns. He quit the group last spring as the outgrowth of a union dispute.

OSC, Iowa Meet Again In 1960

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Oregon State College, whose 1956 Pacific Coast Conference champion football team was defeated twice by the University of Iowa, is going to try again in 1960.

Roy S. Keene, OSC athletic director, said Monday the game would be at Iowa City on Sept. 24, 1960.

"We've had cordial relations with Iowa," Keene said.

Fry Defeats Gibson For Aussie Title

MELBOURNE (AP)—Shirley Fry of St. Petersburg, Fla., added the Australian National Tennis Championship to her U. S. and Wimbledon crowns Monday by turning back her American rival, Althea Gibson, 6-3, 6-4.

In the men's final at the Koorring Courts, Ashley Cooper, 20, one of Australia's brightest Davis Cup hopes, subdued fellow countryman Neale Fraser, 6-3, 9-11, 6-4, 6-2. Fraser had upset the injured defending champion, Lew Had, in the semifinals.

Miss Fry's victory over Miss Gibson was by the exact score she beat the New York girl in the finals at Forest Hills last September, but failed to pull her even with Miss Gibson in their Australian series.

Althea beat Shirley to win the women's championships in the New South Wales, South Australian and Seaside tournaments while Shirley's lone triumph, before today, came in the Victorian Championships.

Elmwood Man Premier Seed Grower

Junior Award Presented To Norman Husa

Howard Pool of Elmwood was named 1956 Nebraska premier seed grower here Monday night, and Norman L. Husa of Barneston was presented with the junior seed grower award.

The announcement was made at the annual Crop Improvement Days banquet held in the University of Nebraska Student Union.

Pool has produced certified seed for 18 years. His first seed production was in 1939 when he began with oats and hybrid seed corn. In addition to these he has produced certified wheat, broomgrass, hybrid sorghums and red clover seed.

Certified seed corn has been Pool's major seed project. He has produced 25,000 bushels of seed corn and has a $15,000 investment in machinery and buildings for processing and storing certified farm seeds.

Pool was president of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association and was a member of the board of directors for six years. In addition he has been a leader in various community activities.

N.U. Student

Husa, who is 18 years old and a sophomore in the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold L. Husa of Barneston. He plans to complete college and return to the farm.

He is in his sixth year of certified seed production, having produced 4,000 bushels of certified wheat, oats, and soybean seed.

The junior seed grower is the 1956-57 State FFA treasurer and has been active in local crop improvement activities, FFA grain judging contests, and seed shows.

More Scientific

Farming will become more and more scientific in the future Dr. R. I. Throckmorton, dean emeritus of the Kansas State College school of agriculture, predicted.

Speaking at the banquet, he said farmers of the future will place more emphasis on quality products because the consuming public will demand high quality foods.

"There are those who would have us believe that people will be on sub-standard diets by 1975 because of acreages being taken out of production, soil losses due to erosion and the rate of increase of our population. Personally, I think this is a pessimistic viewpoint," Dr. Throckmorton said.

Agricultural Potential Here Said 'Great'

Nebraska has one of the greatest agricultural potentials of any area in the United States, C. R. Porter, secretary-manager of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association, told persons attending Crop Improvement Days Monday at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

He continued, "Nebraska has the soil, one of the best underground water supplies, substantial farmers, and an irrigated acreage approaching two million acres. A more progressive spirit and more progressive action could bring this potential to reality much sooner than most people realize."

Porter said Nebraska has the possibility of becoming a major producing area of certain seed crops.

Hybrid Sorghums

Currently, hybrid sorghums are rapidly coming into the picture. Probably no area is better suited to production of hybrid sorghum seed than the southern part of Nebraska, according to Porter.

Porter reported that 831 seed growers produced certified seed last year in Nebraska. Pure seed of 101 different crop varieties was distributed by seed growers and seed distributors.

"Tremendous Possibilities" Another speaker told the group that grass seed specialty crop offers tremendous possibilities as a cash crop.

L. C. Newell, university grass breeder, added that potentials in grass seed production are not fully known because modern methods of production have not been applied to grasses as they have with other crops.

Efficiency of agricultural production is one thing that has made America the great country it is, Robert A. Sar, President of the Iowa Crop Improvement Association, told the group.

Dogs, Nurse Fare Well In Will

OMAHA (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Kellogg, 60, widow of a Missouri Valley, Iowa, banker and a central figure in a 1955 Omaha jewel robbery, died at her home.

She had been ill several months with cancer.

Her will, filed Monday in Douglas County Court, provides luxurious care for three pet dogs, one of them — Monca-Pu — who sported a diamond-studded collar.

Miss Mae Mamerish, Mrs. Kellogg's nurse and longtime companion, was named custodian of the three Chihuahuas and several pet birds. She will be the beneficiary of a $25,000 trust fund and have the use of the Kellogg mansion, contingent on her care for the dogs.

Miss Mamerish and Mrs. Arthur were in the Kellogg home at the time of the Oct. 18, 1955, jewel robbery. Mrs. Kellogg at first said the amount of the loss was $125,000 but later said was much less.

Paul R. Small, Omaha, was convicted of the robbery and sentenced to 15 years.

Budget Protests Flood Nebraska Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nebraskaans are bombarding their congressional representatives with letters protesting President Eisenhower's 72 billion dollar budget.

The offices of Sens. Hruska and Curtis, Republicans, reported Monday they are receiving large quantities of mail from Nebraskaans urging that the budget be cut.

An aide to Rep. A. L. Miller (R) said letters to Miller indicated Nebraskaans favor a heavy cut in, or even elimination of, foreign aid.

"Alarmed"

"We are becoming more and more alarmed at the tremendous increase in spending from year to year," an Omaha man wrote. "It seems that the Republican Party is no longer the conservative party but is blending more and more into the liberal Democratic party."

A Creighton correspondent wrote:

"I can't help feeling alarmed at the way the government keeps on spending money. We were very critical of the Truman Administration but I cannot see any improvement in that way. The danger of inflation is becoming a fact and Secretary Humphrey says we will have a depression some day that will ruin everything."

Another Omaha letter said:

"I expected Ike to come out with a solid program but he stubbed his toe and will make the New Deal look like a dirty dime."

A woman wrote from Sidney:

"The budget is beyond the means of the people who are going to have to pay."

The Council also revealed the appointment of four men to lead its jamboree contingent.

F. Marvin Barber will help supervise the activities of 34 troops, 1,400 Scouts and a staff of 40 people in his post with Section 34, consisting of troops from Nebraska and Iowa.

This section will be complete with its own post office, health lodge, activity center and commissary, according to Dr. Robert R. Geer, president of the Overland trails Council.

Leaders

Chosen as leaders of the 44 Boy Scouts and Explorers from the Council were Melvin Reeves, Hastings; Robert Hock, Lexington; Merle B. Anderson, Burwell, and Normal Hayman, Grand Island.

The group will leave Hastings July 7 aboard a special train scheduled to include jamboree contingents from North Platte, Omaha, Lincoln and Council Bluffs, Ia. They will tour Detroit, Rochester, N.Y., Niagara Falls and New York City enroute to the jamboree.

The Scouts will spend 10 days camping with 50,000 Scouts and leaders from throughout the United States, then return home by special train after touring Washington, D.C.

School Redistricting Appeal

The State Supreme Court received a transcript Monday in the appeal of the Bladen School District (R-31) of Webster County from a Webster County District Court decision in a school redistricting case.

Thirteen Webster County petitioners asked that their land be detached from the Bladen School District and attached to the Campbell School (R-13) of Franklin County. They contended they were closer to Campbell than Bladen and preferred the Campbell school.
